PART 3

Questions 32-34 refer to the following conversation.

미국식 발음 → 캐나다식 발음

W: Hello. My name is Vanessa Johnson, and I'm calling because I want to report an error in your newspaper.

M: What mistake did you discover, Ms. Johnson?

W: Well . . . I'm the owner of the vitamin and supplement store called Lancaster Health and Nutrition. Yesterday, you published an article about our new branch that's going to open in Dalton Plaza next week. But the article said it's opening next month.

M: Oh, I'm very sorry. I'll be certain to notify our news editor immediately. Once he verifies the misprint, I'm sure he'll arrange for a correction to be posted in tomorrow's edition.

Questions 35-37 refer to the following conversation.

영국식 발음 → 호주식 발음

W: It appears that we need more meals for tonight's year-end corporate dinner party. Seven of our employees brought additional guests, but the cooks only prepared enough food for the confirmed number of guests.

M: Hmm, that's odd. I was in charge of keeping track of the guest list, and just one person contacted me today to say that he was bringing an extra person with him.

W: Maybe some of them changed their minds at the last minute. Anyway, could you ask the chef to make a few more dishes?

M: Sure. I'll head to the kitchen and find out if he can do that.

Questions 38-40 refer to the following conversation.

캐나다식 발음 → 영국식 발음

M: Shannon, I noticed that you ride your bike to work. Did you know that some of the people in our department have formed a bicycle group?

W: Really? I hadn't heard that. Can you tell me more about it?

M: Well, we meet every Saturday and go on long rides together. Some of us just enjoy the workout, while others are training for competitive events. Of course, participating in races isn't a requirement for biking with us.

W: Great! I was a bit concerned. As I'm not a very experienced rider, I'm not interested in competing. But I do like the idea of getting some exercise. How do I join?

M: I'll e-mail you the registration form this afternoon.

Questions 41-43 refer to the following conversation.

캐나다식 발음 → 미국식 발음

M: After this morning's new recruit orientation, you said that you'd provide me with a list of the names of the new employees from each department. But the one you sent me was from the last orientation instead.

W: Sorry about that. Is it OK if I get you the correct one later? I must go to an important lunch meeting with the funders of our new building project right now, so I don't have enough time at the moment.

M: That's fine. Just remember to get it to me before you leave the office today. I'll need to enter their contact information into our database before I publish the new employee directory on Wednesday.

W: I won't forget.

Questions 44-46 refer to the following conversation.

호주식 발음 → 영국식 발음

M: You want to see me, Ms. Collins?

W: Yes. Many customers have provided negative feedback about the XLNC solar clocks. I'm a little worried. They say their machines aren't charging properly, which causes them to stop functioning after just a few days.

M: Bill Johnson from our engineering team and I recently tested 200 random units. They all worked perfectly. So, my guess is that consumers aren't using the devices properly. I think we need to clarify our user manual.

W: I see. We should also post information about it on our Web site. Can you please make a draft of that?

M: OK. When do you want this done by?

W: Early enough so that I can skim through it before my shift ends today.

Questions 47-49 refer to the following conversation.

호주식 발음 → 미국식 발음

M: Excuse me. I'd like some assistance. I need to have 100 wedding invitations printed, but I'm not sure which type of paper to use. I want the invitations to look nice but also be durable. Do you have any recommendations?

W: I suggest trying our store's glossy card stock. This high-quality paper is very strong, so it doesn't tear easily. It'd be ideal if you intend to deliver the invitations through the mail.

M: That sounds perfect. How much will the order cost?

W: Well, each sheet of card stock costs 50¢ to print, and you can fit two invitations per sheet . . . So, your grand total will be $25.

Questions 50-52 refer to the following conversation.

 캐나다식 발음 → 미국식 발음

M: Hello. I read about the fitness courses your business offers in a flyer. I'm interested in the weight training class. When is it held?

W: That one is held once a week on Saturday, from 9 A.M. to 1 P.M. in our largest room. We used to offer a second session at 7 P.M., but not many people signed up, so we decided to cancel it.

M: Oh, that's OK. I wasn't planning on coming in then, anyway. The earlier option should work for me. So, I'd like to know a bit more about the details of the session.

W: Would you like me to grab you an informational pamphlet? It'll explain everything you need to know.

 Questions 53-55 refer to the following conversation with three speakers.

 호주식 발음 → 영국식 발음 → 미국식 발음

M: Excuse me. I've come to your office because I received a service request from Sarah Long.

W1: Yes. Um . . . her desk is next to mine. Sarah, the repairperson from Raymond is here to fix the water cooler.

W2: Oh, sorry. I was just finishing up a conference call. Anyway, the cooler is right here behind my desk.

M: Water is leaking from the device's spout, right?

W2: Yeah. I noticed it dripping this morning.

M: Hmm . . . the spout isn't working correctly and needs to be replaced.

W2: OK. However, before you begin, I've got to notify the building manager that a repair is going to be made. Janice, what is Mr. Renner's extension?

W1: It's 6849. I'll call him and tell him for you.

W2: Great. I appreciate it.

Questions 56-58 refer to the following conversation.

 영국식 발음 → 캐나다식 발음

W: Hello. My name is Annabel Christiansen. I'm here to check in for the 5:40 P.M. flight to London. I have my passport and ticket here.

M: I'm sorry. You've arrived too late, Ms. Christiansen. Check-in for that flight closed 20 minutes ago. There won't be enough time for you to reach the gate before takeoff.

W: Oh, no. I was worried this was going to happen, seeing as my taxi was stuck in traffic on the way here. Are there any other flights today that I can take instead?

M: Yes, we still have seats available on the one that leaves at 10:30 P.M. For a $100 fee, I can update your reservation and issue you another ticket.

Questions 59-61 refer to the following conversation.

 미국식 발음 → 호주식 발음

W: Hi, Nicholas. I thought you were supposed to leave for Toronto on Monday to get together with some prospective clients. Are you no longer going?

M: I still am, but I had to postpone my departure on short notice. Now I'll be leaving on Friday evening and coming back next Tuesday.

W: Oh, no! That can't be good for a first meeting. How'd your clients react? Clients usually don't like last minute changes like that.

M: I explained to them that a problem arose with another advertising campaign. I told them I needed to be here to help resolve it before tomorrow's deadline. Fortunately, they said it wasn't an issue.

Questions 62-64 refer to the following conversation.

 캐나다식 발음 → 영국식 발음

M: Hello, Ms. Law. My name is Lance Graner, and I am organizing a conference in April for young professionals who are just entering the field of finance. As you are an investment consultant for a respected firm, I am calling to offer you a paid speaking opportunity at the conference.

W: Well, I'll be unavailable in early April, as I'm planning to visit one of our offices abroad during that time. However, as long as the event takes place after April 15, I can participate.

M: Hmm . . . Never mind then. It'll likely occur on April 4. But I'll contact you if we have other speaking opportunities in the future.

 Questions 65-67 refer to the following conversation and program.

 호주식 발음 → 영국식 발음

M: The opening week of the restaurant was rather successful, wouldn't you say?

W: Absolutely. We exceeded our expected guest numbers, and the restaurant was fully booked last weekend.

M: Yeah. And many of the people who came said they were going to post about our restaurant on their social networking pages. That's great publicity.

W: Also, our publicist, Harold Newman, will be appearing on Morning Buzz tomorrow. That will be sure to build even more positive public attention for us.

M: Really? I heard that he was going to be on Mornings with Jerry.

W: No. He is only scheduled for one program. Our manager will appear on the show you mentioned.

Questions 68-70 refer to the following conversation and coupon.

캐나다식 발음 → 미국식 발음

M: Ms. Barton, I'm done measuring the existing windows in your home. Now, let's look at some options for new ones.

W: Well, I'm quite fond of these windows with awnings. Would it be possible to have those installed?

M: Sure. Um, given the size of the space, it would cost approximately $300 to purchase the windows and have them installed. That's just an estimate, of course.

W: OK. I also have a coupon for 20 percent off for first-time customers. Will that be applicable?

M: I'm sorry, but that promotion isn't . . . um . . . it isn't valid for purchases made from our store. You'll have to visit another location.

Questions 71-73 refer to the following telephone message.

영국식 발음

Good afternoon, Mr. Jackson. This is Claudia Omar, from Proactive Insurance, responding to the voice mail you left me yesterday. You mentioned you'd like to learn more about motorcycle insurance. Well, our most popular plan is the Platinum Protection package, which provides you up to $250,000 in coverage, and I think it would be your best choice. The premium for the plan varies considerably depending on the motorbike you have, so I'll need to know the brand and model of your bike before I can give you an accurate quote. Please call me back today with those details if you can. Thanks.

Questions 74-76 refer to the following talk.

I appreciate you joining us at Fradston Pharmaceuticals' media event. I'm delighted to be here today, as Fradston's newly appointed chief executive officer, to announce our intention to build a new research center in downtown Atlanta. This center will serve as the hub for all of our medical research and is scheduled to open in nine months. The facility is expected to contribute to the creation of over 200 new jobs. More details about these will be posted on our Web site at a later date. We at Fradston hope that this development will solidify the company's position as the nation's top provider of pharmaceutical products.

The company has developed a new application for employees to easily navigate our Intranet system from their smart phones. I accessed some sales and personnel records with it yesterday, and it was very easy to use. It will allow our sales team members to view their client records while visiting customers out of the office. I think everyone will be happy with it. The application's creator, Jay Kim, has volunteered to give everyone a tutorial this afternoon. You won't need to set aside much time for this. Twenty minutes should be enough. It will be held in room 230 at three.

Questions 83-85 refer to the following talk.

Hello, and welcome to our annual, two-day seminar on project management. This year's event promises to be very special as we have a wide range of speakers. Now, I'd like to give you some information about our schedule. We are going to focus on planning and implementing projects for the first day and on evaluating results for the second. Both days will follow the same basic pattern. The mornings are going to begin with presentations by experienced project managers and end with panel discussions and question-and-answer sessions. In the afternoons, we'll break into small groups to develop action plans for specific projects. OK . . . my assistant will now hand out information packets that contain details about what will be covered during the seminar.

Questions 86-88 refer to the following broadcast.

In business news, the multinational technology company Core Resources has announced that its CEO, Kerry Rose, will be stepping down from her position at the end of May. Under Ms. Rose's leadership, the company grew to be the world's third-largest software developer, and it now employs over 15,000 staff members. According to industry insiders, a replacement has already been selected. While Core Resources has yet to release the person's name to the public—and most likely won't do so until closer to Ms. Rose's departure—some analysts are speculating about who the next leader of the company might be.

Stay tuned for Carl Lewis' Daily Business Report. Joining Carl tonight for a rare television interview will be Francine Austen. She is the managing editor of the fashion and design publication Currents. They're going to talk about the online version of the magazine that was launched earlier this year. It has proven to be very successful, as the number of new subscribers to Currents increased for two consecutive months after the site became active. This success is attributed to Ms. Austen's development of a subscription model that provides access to the print and digital versions for one low fee. They'll discuss this in depth when we return from a short commercial break.

OK . . . We're ready to begin our tour of Westfield Botanical Park. But first, I'd like to apologize for the delay. The tour bus that will be transporting our group had an engine problem, but it is operational now. Please turn your attention to the map in the brochure you received earlier, and I will go over our route. We'll follow the main road from here at the visitors center and go past the lily pond and visit the orchid house and the bamboo jungle. Since we won't have time to visit both of the remaining attractions today, we'll take the most direct way back to the visitors center. When we reach the center, we'll provide each of you with a complimentary gift from our gift shop to express our appreciation for your patience. Now, let's begin.

Questions 98-100 refer to the following telephone message and schedule.

Hello. My name is Alice Warren, and I'm registered for the student employment workshop that will be held at the Westwood Employment Center on Saturday. I'm very excited about this because I plan to begin searching for a summer internship in early May, once I've finished my final exams at the end of April. But there's one problem . . . I have to meet with my professor to discuss an assignment that day. Um, it slipped my mind when I signed up for the workshop yesterday. Would it be a problem if I skipped one of the sessions? I would leave at noon and be back just after two. Please call me at 555-4938 to let me know if this is allowed. Thanks.
