Questions 32-34 refer to the following conversation.

 영국식 발음 → 캐나다식 발음

- W: Do you still want a larger desk and filing cabinet for your office? If so, you're welcome to have my current ones. I'll be transferring to another department at the end of the month and will no longer need them.
- M: I've wanted to replace mine for a while now, so I'd appreciate that. My only concern is that the desk might be too big for my workspace. Could you measure it today and let me know how large it is?
- W: Actually, I'm leaving for an appointment right now and won't be back for the rest of the day. You are free to make the measurements, though. My office will be unlocked, so let yourself in any time.

Questions 35-37 refer to the following conversation.

 호주식 발음 → 영국식 발음

- M: Over the last month, our boutique has only sold a few dresses from the Joyce Cho Collection. Since we have a limited amount of space in the store, we may want to consider replacing that line with items from other designers.
- W: Yes, I know that it hasn't been doing well, but I think that's because it hasn't been properly promoted. The clothes are actually very fashionable, so they should be more popular with our shoppers than they currently are.
- M: Then let's try putting up a product display near the entrance to draw more attention to them. Could you work on a display plan when you finish writing the inventory list for the merchandise we received this morning?

 Questions 38-40 refer to the following conversation.

 캐나다식 발음 → 미국식 발음

- M: Excuse me. My friend and I would like to see tonight's performance of Made for You. I'd like the closest seats to the stage.
- W: I'm very sorry, but it looks like you're out of luck. A couple just got the final pair of tickets for this evening's show.
- M: Is that so? I thought we were certain to get some given how early we arrived.
- W: Yes, it's a shame. However, I can reserve you some seats now for tomorrow's performance if you'd like.
- M: Please do that. I leave town for a business conference the following day, so tomorrow will be my last chance to watch the play.

 Questions 41-43 refer to the following conversation.

 영국식 발음 → 호주식 발음

- W: Next in line, please.
- M: Hello. I'm here to take a written exam and renew my driver's license.
- W: OK. Just note that many people are ahead of you.
- M: Oh . . . If I stick around, when do you think I'd be able to take the test? I'm free for about an hour but need to leave for my work shift no later than 4 P.M.
- W: Because of the number of people here, I doubt you'll be finished by then. I suggest coming back on another day. Mornings are usually quite slow. That would probably be your best option.

Questions 44-46 refer to the following conversation.

 호주식 발음 → 미국식 발음

- M: Do you want to drive down to the medical conference with me this week? If we leave for San Francisco on Thursday morning, we'll get there by early evening. That way, we can visit the Hill Art Museum on Friday morning before the conference.
- W: That does sound like fun, but I think I will take the train. I heard on the news that there is major construction taking place on parts of the highway, and it is causing serious delays.
- M: I didn't know that. I should probably take the train too. I had better check if there are tickets still available. What time are you leaving?

Questions 47-49 refer to the following conversation.

 미국식 발음 → 캐나다식 발음

- W: I was trying to make a color copy of our new survey forms, but it seems the printer is out of ink. Do you know where we keep the cartridges?
- M: They're usually in the storage cupboard in the staff room, but I think we're out. I'm going to the office supply store after lunch, so I can get a case of them while I'm there.
- W: Perfect. Could you also pick up some additional things from the store? I'm running low on pens, folders, and a couple of other items.
- M: Sure. Just e-mail me a list of what you need within the next 30 minutes, and I'll be sure to get everything for you.

Questions 50-52 refer to the following conversation.

- M: Ms. Odessa, I heard that Flacco Incorporated will be buying out our firm. Do you know if that's true? I haven't received an official memo regarding the matter yet.
- W: Yes, that information is correct. Clint Hunter, our chief operations officer, has called a meeting here at the corporate headquarters to discuss the news. It will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock.
- M: I see. Do you happen to know if anyone will lose their jobs as a result? If so, when will people be informed?

W: Although we'll have to wait to hear the final details from Mr. Hunter, I've been told that the acquisition will not result in staff layoffs. But he plans to answer staff's questions at the meeting today. So, you can ask him directly at that time.

Questions 53-55 refer to the following conversation.

 영국식 발음 → 캐나다식 발음

W: The design department still hasn't sent me a rough draft for our brochure. They were supposed to give it to me this morning so I could look over the design and see if everything is OK.

M: That's strange. I thought that they had already finished working on that. Do you want me to drop by their offices and check on the status of their design?

W: Could you? I'm really busy with another assignment right now, so I would really appreciate the help.

M: No problem. I have to go up to their department anyway to deliver some updated employee manuals. I'll head there in a couple of minutes.

Questions 56-58 refer to the following conversation.

 캐나다식 발음 → 미국식 발음

M: Hi, Alice. This is Tim calling from the warehouse. The air conditioner at our facility has stopped operating. It's almost impossible to work in this heat. Could you send someone up to fix it?

W: Yes, the facility manager and I were informed about that yesterday and sent a technician to check it out. He said the machine is old, and replacement parts are no longer available. So, we have ordered an entirely new machine. But unfortunately, you'll have to deal with the heat for today, since it isn't going to arrive until tomorrow. Sorry.

M: Well, I suppose we will have to make do until then. Maybe I can find some fans to use in the meantime.

 Questions 59-61 refer to the following conversation with three speakers.

 호주식 발음 → 미국식 발음 → 영국식 발음

M: Is everything ready for Mr. Henderson's party on Friday? Having his accomplishments as a writer for the Boston Times recognized is a big honor, so I want everything to go smoothly for him.

W1: Actually, we ran into an unforeseen problem.

W2: Yeah. The owner of Oakridge Restaurant just called to cancel our reservation.

M: Really? Why?

W1: The private room we reserved for Friday was accidentally double-booked. However, the owner said he would take 25 percent off our total bill if we decide to hold the event on a different night.

M: Hmm . . . in that case, why don't you check if there is a room available on Saturday? We can push the event back one evening.

W2: Sure thing.

 Questions 62-64 refer to the following conversation and floor plan.

 영국식 발음 → 호주식 발음

W: Hello, I'm Patty Alpert. I was supposed to be here at 9 A.M. for my orientation since I'm a new hire. I got into a minor car accident, though, so I'm a bit late.

M: Oh, that's unfortunate. I hope that you're all right.

W: Yes, it wasn't too serious . . . just time consuming. Where should I go now?

M: Right now, everyone is working in groups doing customer service role-playing exercises.

W: OK. Which group am I in?

M: Let me check. Um, we're just inside the entrance to the auditorium now. Looking straight ahead, you should join the group directly to the left of the stage. I can bring you over if you'd like.

W: That's not necessary. I can find them on my own. Thanks.

 Questions 65-67 refer to the following conversation and pie chart.

 미국식 발음 → 캐나다식 발음

W: Isaac, can you explain the details of our hair salon's plan to attract customers in March?

M: We're going to discount our services up to 50 percent for the month.

W: Which services are going to be featured?

M: All of them, but we've chosen to give the biggest discount to the service preferred by over 20 percent of our customers. It has the highest profit margin.

W: I see. And is there a list of the specific prices and discounts someplace?

M: Bradley is making a sign with those details now. Once he's finished, the receptionist will post it at the main entrance.

 Questions 68-70 refer to the following conversation and sign.

 미국식 발음 → 호주식 발음

W: Simon, have you heard? Our building's parking lot is going to be closed next week. It's being expanded and resurfaced.

M: Yeah. Everyone from our office is gonna have to park elsewhere for four days . . . Luckily, Friday's a holiday.

W: Right. Fortunately, our company has offered to pay the fees we're charged for parking. But the garage they recommended is four blocks away.

M: Oh, really? Why can't we use Madison Street Parking? It's just one block from here.

W: I guess that one and the Mulberry Lane Lot are for private use only. We could use Clyde's Parking Tower or Casey's Garage, but only the former costs under $10 a day, which is our daily reimbursement limit. So, we've got to go there.

I want to update you on the progress of our labor negotiations with management. I'm happy to announce that talks are going smoothly. We have already agreed to limit the number of work hours per week to a maximum of 45. Moreover, management has agreed to offer additional benefits and make improvements to the working environment of the factory. The only issue yet to be addressed is how much wages will be increased. However, we are making a lot of headway on this situation. If things continue to go well, all matters should be resolved by this upcoming Monday.

Our next lecturer at this year's Ontario Environmental Convention is Professor Clarence Meyers. Mr. Meyers teaches at Scotland University, and today he is going to explain what type of an impact climate change is going to have on Canada over the next century. You'll want to pay close attention to this part, since the data is extremely interesting and educational. He'll then conclude by explaining the habitat and wildlife conservation bill he is currently lobbying Parliament to pass. All right, Mr. Meyers. You may begin when you're ready.

Questions 86-88 refer to the following talk.

Good afternoon, everyone. I'd like to congratulate you all for being promoted to sales team managers. Few of our salespeople make it this far. Now, we'll go over the available benefits for your new positions. Let's all refer to page 22 of the management handbook I previously distributed. We don't need to discuss pay increases today. Everyone gets the same percentage increase. Some of the other more complicated benefits, however, need more attention. As you can see, there are many pension plans available to you. You'll need to read through these before deciding which is best for you. If you need assistance, please contact Hazel in human resources. She's an expert in these matters. Are there any questions so far?

Questions 89-91 refer to the following talk.

As most of you know, our resort has been conducting customer surveys over the course of this past summer. The goal of the study is to get feedback from visitors about how we can improve our facility and services. We received a lot of comments about our small and outdated swimming pool. Since so many respondents made comments about this issue, we have decided to build a new pool that's twice the size of our current one. We are also going to enlarge our outdoor lounge area.

These renovations will get underway in March because that month is in the middle of our low season. Sometime in February, I'll send out a reminder memo to all employees about the renovations.

Questions 92-94 refer to the following talk.

 호주식 발음

Our company makes an annual donation to support a worthy cause. This year will be no different, and we will hold a bake sale to raise funds for establishing the "Playroom of Hope" at the Hurler Children's Hospital in Orlando. Employees from all departments will volunteer by baking items at home for the sale, such as cupcakes or cookies. We then ask that staff sell their items at designated sites around the city on December 3. Proceeds will be used to buy toys, books, and other equipment needed in the playroom. I plan to send you all an e-mail describing the hospital's objectives and vision regarding this project. You can read over it to learn more about how the playroom will benefit children with special needs.

Good afternoon, Mr. Reynolds. This is Marsha Fields from Cline and Peterman Law Firm returning your call. I'm fine with moving our meeting about your patent from 11 A.M. Thursday to 2 P.M. Friday as you requested in your message. It will give me more time to do some research for our meeting. Um, I have a few ideas about how to resolve your patent dispute that I look forward to discussing with you. Oh, one thing I should mention . . . Our office is being renovated, so we are temporarily using the one that was occupied by an accounting firm. That company relocated last month and is still listed on the directory. Don't get confused. Thanks.
