PART 3

Questions 32-34 refer to the following conversation.

 미국식 발음 → 호주식 발음

- W: By the way, an employee from the state sanitation department will be coming here to our electronics production facility tomorrow. He will inspect the waste management equipment. It'd be nice if you could give me a hand making sure there aren't any known issues with the machinery.
- M: Yeah, but I'm busy at the moment with repairing our conveyor belt, as you told me to do this morning.
- W: Just let me know as soon as you're free. I want to take care of everything today since we won't have much time to get ready tomorrow morning.

 Questions 35-37 refer to the following conversation.

 캐나다식 발음 → 영국식 발음

- M: Hey, Soojin. I'm about to head to Forest Café to buy coffee for our team. Would you like something, too?
- W: Yes. I love the seasonal espresso drink sold there . . . the pumpkin latte.
- M: I think that one was discontinued. It was being offered in the fall only. The café is advertising winter drinks now.
- W: Too bad. Well, I'll just have a cappuccino, then.
- M: All right. And you recently mentioned you're on a diet, so should I ask if they can use low-fat milk instead of regular milk?
- W: That'd be great. Thanks so much.

Questions 38-40 refer to the following conversation.

 호주식 발음 → 미국식 발음

- M: Our department is struggling to finalize the necessary financial reports for the upcoming shareholders' meeting. I'm sorry to ask on short notice, but can you work on them over the weekend?
- W: I'll be out of town from Saturday through next Tuesday. I'm visiting Charleston for my sister's birthday party. You approved my leave last month.
- M: Oh, that's right. We've been so busy lately that I completely forgot. In that case, I'll have to ask someone else from your team to do it.
- W: Try checking with Catherine Dawkins. Just last week, she said that she'd be open to working more overtime, as she's saving money to go to Europe.

Questions 41-43 refer to the following conversation.

 캐나다식 발음 → 영국식 발음

- M: Hi. This is Larry Bates. I ordered a textbook from your store two weeks ago, but it still hasn't arrived at my apartment. My order confirmation number is 42345.
- W: According to the tracking information, your book was delivered almost three days ago. However, the courier must not have brought it directly to your door, since you didn't include a specific apartment number with the shipping information.
- M: Hmm . . . But I never saw the item by my complex's main door either.

- W: Why don't you talk to your building manager to find out whether the package is being held for you? Otherwise, you can get in touch with the courier service, Package Express. They may be able to help you.

Questions 44-46 refer to the following conversation.

 미국식 발음 → 호주식 발음

- W: Hello. I have a mobile service plan through your organization, and I want to buy a new cell phone. I'd like to know if I qualify for any discounts.
- M: This month, customers can sell their phones to the store and put that money towards an upgrade. The deal applies to any newly released devices, including the Verso X3 and the Blade 4S. However, should you take advantage of this offer, the amount that you can receive depends on the condition of the phone you sell us.
- W: What a wonderful deal! Oh, and I was considering buying the Verso X3 anyway. Here's my device. I'm curious to know how much I can get for it.

Questions 47-49 refer to the following conversation.

 캐나다식 발음 → 영국식 발음

- M: You're in charge of organizing tomorrow's architecture team gathering, correct?
- W: Yeah. I've finalized all the activities that are gonna take place. Those details will be included in the reminder e-mail that I'll be sending to attendees before lunch. But why do you ask? Does anything need to be changed?
- M: Yes, actually. Helen's presentation on modern design is going to be longer than originally expected, so please allow her an extra 15 minutes. Also, Oliver will be unable to attend. He must give a consultation to an important client instead. So, we should remove him from the agenda entirely.
- W: No problem. I'll take care of those updates right now.

 Questions 50-52 refer to the following conversation.

 캐나다식 발음 → 미국식 발음

- M: Hi, Sophia. Do you know what the procedure for securing vacation time at our company is?
- W: It was changed not too long ago . . . Let me check my manual. Are you hoping to take some days off?
- M: Yes—February 21 to 25.
- W: OK. Well, the handbook says you have to fill in a form on the human resources Web page. Two days later, you'll receive a notification indicating whether your supervisor has approved the request.
- M: Where exactly is the form posted on the page?
- W: Just click on the Scheduling tab, and you'll see it. However, several employees have already applied for time off toward the end of February, so it might not be approved. You should talk to your manager about this.
- M: OK, I'll do that now. Thanks for your help.

Questions 53-55 refer to the following conversation with three speakers.

㉠ 호주식 발음 → 미국식 발음 → 영국식 발음

- M: Excuse me. I'm hoping to learn more about your Chinese language classes, since many of my clients are based in China.
- W1: Our course of business Chinese should be perfect for you. Oh, the instructor is coming down the hallway now. Jenny, can you provide some details about your class?
- W2: Sure. We focus on expressions used in corporate settings. We meet twice weekly for two months. And the next course starts on June 2—this Friday.
- M: Hmm . . . Two months? That'll be difficult for me, as I'm traveling to Hong Kong in July.
- W2: In that case, there's another one starting in August.
- W1: Yes, and you'll also be eligible for an advance registration discount if you enroll at our institute before July 10.
- M: Great. I'll sign up for it now.

Questions 56-58 refer to the following conversation.

㉡ 영국식 발음 → 캐나다식 발음

- W: Now that the Evergreen Project is over, let's begin our next assignment.
- M: You mean creating the advertisement for the furniture shop . . . ah . . . Redwood Home, right?
- W: Exactly. We first need to plan the concept for the TV commercial.
- M: Maybe we should concentrate on the business's selection of outdoor furniture.
- W: That's a good suggestion. Can you collaborate with Alyssa to put together a storyboard with that focus?
- M: Oh, Alyssa's at an off-site training session all day today about . . . um . . . digital media. So, I'll get started on that by myself and continue with her when she returns to the office tomorrow.

Questions 59-61 refer to the following conversation.

㉢ 캐나다식 발음 → 영국식 발음

- M: Ms. Martinez, it's Phillip Gray calling from Kerman and Associates. Have you had a chance to review the revised contract we sent you last week?
- W: Our legal team is taking a look at it now, Mr. Gray. They've told me most of the contract looks satisfactory, but some small changes will need to be made to the section on licensing fees.
- M: That sounds great. By the way, I heard that your corporation's soft drink Orange Lite has become quite popular in Mexico ever since it was introduced this spring. Congratulations on the success thus far.
- W: Thank you. Yes, sales have definitely outperformed our expectations. We hope to make the most of the drink's popularity by continuing to expand distribution in the coming quarters.

Questions 62-64 refer to the following conversation and table.

㉣ 호주식 발음 → 미국식 발음

- M: Ms. Lynch, I just checked the pharmacy's inventory, and we're running low on cough medicine.

- W: I'm not surprised. We're entering the flu season, and we've already had many people coming in to buy that.
- M: Should I contact the pharmaceutical manufacturers and place additional orders?
- W: Please do. Also, let's get extra pain relief drugs, since our supply of that needs to be replenished, too. I meant to order more last week but forgot to.
- M: I'll do that. And as for the pain relief medicine, I'll get the one with the lowest per-pill cost, as customers seem to prefer that brand.

Questions 65-67 refer to the following conversation and map.

㉤ 캐나다식 발음 → 영국식 발음

- M: Thanks for calling Tuscan Sun Excursions. What can I help you with today?
- W: Do you offer guided tours of art galleries around the area? I'm hoping to view some during my four-day trip here.
- M: Absolutely. Our art tour stops by the city's three major museums. It takes place twice daily and begins right outside our office on Truro Avenue.
- W: Oh, I'm actually hoping to browse smaller galleries. There's one at the intersection of Riviera Street and Fresco Road . . . umm . . . just opposite the theater downtown.
- M: Hmm . . . Our company doesn't provide tours there, unfortunately. But I can give you the phone number of Complete Activities—another tourism firm in the area. They offer tours of those locations.

Questions 68-70 refer to the following conversation and label.

㉥ 미국식 발음 → 호주식 발음

- W: This vending machine sells Dalton Pretzels. They contain very little sugar and a lot of carbohydrates, so they're a great way to get a boost of energy. I'm gonna buy some here in the terminal before we board our plane. Do you want a bag of them too?
- M: Although I'm getting a bit hungry, I'll pass. I've had those pretzels before. They're really tasty, but they include too much fat. I'm trying to be careful about what I eat at the moment.
- W: Oh, no worries. There're other options if you're interested—nuts and dried fruit snacks.
- M: That's OK. We'll be receiving lunch once we take off, so I should be fine until then.

PART 4

Questions 71-73 refer to the following talk.

㉦ 호주식 발음

We've now reached what's probably the most famous painting in this museum's collection, The Flames of Clouds. It was created by Guido Mariano and is believed to date back to 1821. As you can see, the picture uses a combination of bright orange and yellow paint, which was quite uncommon at the time it was made. This innovative technique gained Mariano a lot of praise from fellow painters and art critics of his era. OK, let's move on and view some of our 20th century artworks. They're located in the next gallery at the end of the hallway. Please follow me.

Questions 74-76 refer to the following advertisement.

 캐나다식 발음

Want to beat the hot weather? Stop by Stevie's Frozen Yogurt for a cold, refreshing treat! We offer 22 flavors, such as vanilla, chocolate, peanut butter, and coffee. Moreover, we're the only frozen yogurt shop in town that allows customers to add as many toppings as they'd like for no additional charge. Be sure to check out our social media page, where we'll be holding promotions throughout July. There, you'll find a new deal featured daily, including amazing discounts and free items. You won't want to miss out on our incredible offers!

Questions 77-79 refer to the following announcement.

 호주식 발음

May I have your attention, please? Tonight's performance of the award-winning play Miles to Home will begin in half an hour. I have some unfortunate news, though. Roberta Mendez was injured in rehearsal and therefore won't be performing tonight. She has been replaced by Tanya Wilkins. Information about this talented young actor is in the play's program. Just ask an usher for one of these booklets. And please note that snacks are no longer permitted in the auditorium during the performance. We received complaints about people eating during our last production, so we had to make some changes. Thank you for your cooperation.

Questions 80-82 refer to the following radio broadcast.

 영국식 발음

Welcome to Top Science on WRP 101.5. I'm your host, Nina Esteban. As part of our ongoing podcast series on the impact of climate change, I've invited Dr. Luis Mattson from Fillmore College to the show. Dr. Mattson teaches in the school's ecology department and, just this Monday, published a paper in a respected journal. The paper examines the rise of sea levels along the United States coastline as a result of melting glaciers. Throughout today's program, our guest is going to discuss his findings and respond to a few critiques that his research has received. Dr. Mattson, do you mind starting by outlining the results of your research?

Questions 83-85 refer to the following excerpt from a meeting.

 미국식 발음

One last thing . . . I want to discuss the product testing for our upcoming lipstick line. We posted an advertisement seeking paid test subjects to participate in the research, and . . . well, now we've got a problem. A lot more people than we need signed up. I don't want to turn anyone away, though. Instead, let's see if they'd be willing to take part in other studies. I just spoke to our research manager Beth Meyers, and she told me that more people are needed to test some eye makeup that we're developing. She's going to reach out to those who applied to see whether they'd be open to trying those products instead.

Questions 86-88 refer to the following introduction.

 영국식 발음

I'd like you all to meet Ivan Schwartz. Mr. Schwartz is the head application developer at our company's Vienna branch, and he has traveled to Liverpool to undergo training with our IT department. While here, he will be shown how to operate the data collection program that we will be rolling out across all of our branches in March. As you all know, the program is quite complicated, which is why we've asked Mr. Schwartz to travel here and work with our staff in person rather than virtually. Please be sure to make him feel welcome over the next five days and answer any questions that he may have. OK, that's all for now.

Questions 89-91 refer to the following telephone message.

 미국식 발음

Hi, Carol. I just called to thank you for asking me to attend your dinner party on Saturday. It was great to see you and some of the other people from our neighborhood. Um, one of your guests mentioned that she ran an interior design firm. If I remember correctly, her name was, uh, Kathy Turner. Could you give me her contact information? I'm going to remodel my kitchen, and I'll need the services of a professional designer. Also, before I forget . . . I just received word that the community center will no longer provide transportation for its summer program. Your children are enrolled in classes there as well, right? Maybe we can take turns driving them each day. Let me know if you're interested in doing that.

Questions 92-94 refer to the following radio broadcast.

 캐나다식 발음

According to a recent press conference held by the city's mayor, Shenzhen will be launching a major campaign to attract foreign businesses. A local publicity firm has created the campaign, which focuses on the city's low corporate tax rates and large labor market. Moreover, it draws attention to how Shenzhen's growing population offers an excellent consumer base for multiple enterprises. Although Shenzhen is already well known among Chinese entrepreneurs, officials feel the city has yet to reach its full business potential. They are optimistic that the campaign will generate more attention from international companies, as well as increase tourism in the region. For further information about the campaign or to view any of its promotional materials, you can visit www.shenzhenbusiness.gov.cn.

Questions 95-97 refer to the following telephone message and form.

 미국식 발음

My name is Miranda Cruz, and I'm calling regarding Elegant Fashion Magazine. About a week ago, I was e-mailed a subscription renewal form for the publication. At the time, I signed up for a year-and-a-half subscription. However, I learned yesterday that I'll be traveling to France in December for a work project. Since the length of my stay in the country is open-ended, I . . . uh . . . I can only commit to a one-year subscription to the magazine. Of course, I would like the amount I overpaid to be returned to me. If you have any questions, you can reach me at 555-2197.

Questions 98-100 refer to the following announcement and graph.

 호주식 발음

May I have everyone's attention? I've got a quick announcement to make before the Eastern Hills National Park opens today. The number of shuttle buses will increase next month. Specifically, buses will run from the main parking lot to the Cold Bridge National Monument every 20 minutes instead of every 30. We will resume our regular schedule at the end of the peak season . . . uh, the month in which we usually receive less than 10,000 visitors. I also wanted to remind you about the special lectures that will be held at the information center. Each week, a different expert will discuss an aspect of the park's history. Um, Brenda Kirk did a great job of organizing this program, so make sure to tell visitors about it.
