 영국식 발음 → 캐나다식 발음

- W: Hi, Mark. Our department head wants me to arrange the corporation's year-end party. However, I'm not sure when it should be hosted. How about December 21?
- M: Could you think about choosing another day? The 21st is when the Tampa Bay Hurricanes plays in the championship ice hockey game, and I know a lot of staff plan to watch that.
- W: Thanks for reminding me. Would December 22 be better, then?
- M: Definitely. Also, I can help out by sending a notice to fellow employees. So, let me know once you settle on a specific time and the other details.

Questions 35-37 refer to the following conversation.

 영국식 발음 → 호주식 발음

- W: Excuse me, I'd like to see the 8:00 P.M. screening of Voyage Across Australia.
- M: I'm sorry. But tickets for that and all other show times tonight have been sold out. You may book a seat for tomorrow night, however.
- W: I didn't realize the movie was that popular. I have to be at the office tomorrow night. Will the film still be playing at the theater next week?
- M: Yes. In fact, Andy Baker, the director, will be present for a question and answer session following the screening next Wednesday at 3:30 P.M. You can find out more information about that by reading the flyer posted behind you.

 Questions 38-40 refer to the following conversation.

 미국식 발음 → 캐나다식 발음

- W: Good morning. This is Clara Davis, and I'm having trouble with my laptop. Your shop did a fantastic job fixing it previously, so I'd like to hire you again.
- M: What's the issue this time, Ms. Davis?
- W: The screen keeps freezing, and the computer often restarts automatically.
- M: Well, that sounds like a software error, which isn't my area of expertise. My associate Robert specializes in those types of repairs. Would it be possible to bring your laptop to our office next Monday? He can work on it then.
- W: I'm going abroad for a real estate workshop on Sunday. I'd really like it running properly before then.
- M: Hmm . . . let me transfer you to Robert now. I can't say whether he'll be able to fit you into his schedule sometime today. One moment, please.

 Questions 41-43 refer to the following conversation.

 호주식 발음 → 영국식 발음

- M: Did you hear about the policy change for business travel expenses? Employees will have to submit relevant receipts within at least three days following the end date of a trip.

- W: But that means I'll need to get the paperwork from my recent visit to our warehouse in Dubai in order by today. I won't have time for that.
- M: Don't worry. The rule doesn't take effect until the end of next month.
- W: That's a relief. Why is the policy being modified?
- M: The goal is to improve efficiency within the financial department.
- W: Makes sense. Last week, the head of the division was actually telling me how hard it is to track costs when people aren't timely about turning in their receipts.

Questions 44-46 refer to the following conversation.

 미국식 발음 → 호주식 발음

- W: Excuse me. I checked out some novels here earlier today, and I may have left my wallet somewhere near this circulation desk. Has one been found recently?
- M: Not to my knowledge. However, I think you'd better visit our lost-and-found center just one floor up. Someone could have possibly picked it up and brought it there.
- W: I see. Also, I'm wondering if it's possible to borrow these DVDs without my library card. Unfortunately, my card was also in my wallet.
- M: Certainly. We have your account in our system, so I can go ahead and do that for you. May I ask for your account number?

Questions 47-49 refer to the following conversation.

 영국식 발음 → 캐나다식 발음

- W: The Sporting Supplier. This is Wanda. What can I help you with?
- M: I'd like to ask about a tennis racquet I found on your homepage—the Kendell Swift XE. I'm wondering if these racquets come with spare grips for the handle or if those would need to be purchased separately.
- W: All tennis racquets come with just one standard grip. But we offer a variety of other grips that absorb shock and reduce hand strain. Those can be added on for an extra charge.
- M: OK. I'm interested in the shock-absorbing types, so I'll take another look online this afternoon and see what specific options are available. Thanks.

Questions 50-52 refer to the following conversation.

 미국식 발음 → 호주식 발음

- W: Hi, Charlie. I'm having dinner with our investment consultant in Brownville in 30 minutes, but I forgot my day planner at the office. It contains the name and address of the restaurant we agreed to meet at, which I need.
- M: Yes, it's right here on your desk. Is it OK if I open it and find those details?
- W: Please do. Is there a sticky note attached to the page with the information for the meeting with Charles Grand?
- M: Indeed. It says that you have a table booked at El Toro Bistro on 45 Weston Avenue.

Questions 53-55 refer to the following conversation.

캐나다식 발음 → 영국식 발음

- M: Thanks for joining me as a special guest on my cooking show here at our broadcasting studio today, Wendy. I'm sure many of my TV viewers have been looking forward to this.
- W: No problem, Chef Hammond. So, what will you be creating with these ingredients?
- M: Well, since the theme of our program is Italian dishes, I'll demonstrate how to make spaghetti with cream sauce.
- W: Sounds delicious. Um, there are eggs mixed into the sauce, right?
- M: Oh, you're familiar with this dish? The recipe calls for two eggs. And here's something to keep in mind. It's important to lower the heat on the stovetop when adding the eggs so that they don't become scrambled.
- W: That's a fantastic tip! Should I add the cheese now?
- M: Yes, please. Meanwhile, I'll show our audience the differences between Italian- and American-style bacon.

Questions 56-58 refer to the following conversation.

호주식 발음 → 미국식 발음

- M: Kumiko, do you know where I can find a copy of the study our research department conducted on health care devices? I need data from it to make another report.
- W: I've got a printout of that in my file cabinet right here. By the way, are you going to the Heart and Lung Foundation's annual charity fundraiser on May 4? Or will you be too busy working on this project?
- M: I requested a deadline extension. I heard that there will be many industry professionals attending the fundraiser, so I don't want to miss it. It would be a great opportunity to network with them.
- W: Definitely . . . If you haven't registered yet, I can do it for you.

Questions 59-61 refer to the following conversation.

미국식 발음 → 호주식 발음

- W: You did a great job creating these charts about our export trends. Our team leader wants you to make a presentation on them at the Manila branch next week.
- M: That's great. But will I have enough time to secure a visa for business travel before then? It took longer than I anticipated to get one the last time I went abroad.
- W: I've already spoken with the head of human resources about that. He was informed by the embassy that the visa approval process can be completed in under a week.
- M: OK. Then, could you e-mail me the presentation template you made for last week's audit meeting? I liked the design of it and want to use it.

Questions 62-64 refer to the following conversation with three speakers.

미국식 발음 → 영국식 발음 → 캐나다식 발음

- W1: This has been an excellent year for our company.
- W2: Without a doubt. We've increased the number of jobseekers who we have helped find work by almost 25 percent.
- M: What's more, we've established strong relationships with major employers.
- W2: Yeah. Consistent dealings with enterprises such as South Bend Corporation will be central to our success moving forward.
- W1: Is it true that South Bend has contracted us again to find more engineering interns?
- M: That's right.
- W2: Do you know the number of positions they need filled?
- M: Not exactly. I'm guessing five or six. What I do know is that the contract we signed gives us four weeks to find suitable applicants.
- W1: That should be a comfortable amount of time to work with.

Questions 65-67 refer to the following conversation and coupon.

영국식 발음 → 캐나다식 발음

- W: Shane, the IT team was supposed to update the Web site yesterday to include information about our new Oceans Alive line of soap, but it hasn't been done yet.
- M: I forgot to tell you. They're gonna finish this afternoon, by . . . um . . . 3:00 P.M. at the latest.
- W: OK, I'll check it then. Is there anything that needs to be done for the product release event being held at SuperSmart at the end of next month?
- M: Of our new products, the shampoo, hand soap, and face cleanser are made of organic ingredients, but the body wash isn't. The current coupon must be modified to ensure it's valid for the entire line.

Questions 68-70 refer to the following conversation and graph.

호주식 발음 → 미국식 발음

- M: Gina, has the environmental assessment that Skylark Incorporated commissioned our research firm to conduct been completed?
- W: It has. I was in charge of carrying it out, and everything went smoothly.
- M: Good. If I remember correctly, the company is concerned with rainfall levels.
- W: That's right—in four counties that it's considering constructing an amusement park.
- M: So, I assume you recommend that the firm build at the driest location of the ones analyzed.
- W: No, actually. That one isn't suitable, since land costs there exceed Skylark's budget. As a result, we recommended the next best option.

Questions 71-73 refer to the following telephone message.

미국식 발음

Cynthia, it's Haley Vincent. I know you're busy preparing for the convention in Orlando you'll be attending on behalf of our investment company, but I could really use your help. I'm presenting some information about a couple of stocks to a client on Monday. I'm a little nervous because I've never done that before. It'd be great if you could go over my notes and visual materials with me beforehand. I want to make sure everything is in order. Oh, also, do you happen to know of any good vegetarian places in town? I might go for lunch with the client after the meeting, and he doesn't eat meat. Thanks in advance, and I'll talk to you soon.

Questions 74-76 refer to the following speech.

호주식 발음

Thank you all very much for being here to celebrate the release of our company's latest device, the Access Portable Charger. I would like to give Patricia Sanderson from the design team special praise today. She came up with the idea to include a flashlight function in the charger. This feature has proven popular with online reviewers who were given the device in advance. They say it makes this the perfect charger for a camping trip, which should result in more sales. Now, please turn your attention to the screen at the front of the room . . . A commercial for the Access Portable Charger will air on several major TV networks starting tomorrow, and I'd like to give you a sneak preview.

Hello, Mr. Holster. This is Julie Thompson from Beaumont Industries. You did very well during the interview on Thursday. Our CEO was impressed with your idea about how to sell more of our products in the Chinese home appliance market. As a result, I'm pleased to inform you that you've been selected to take over as manager of our Beijing branch. I'll e-mail you the contract today. If you decide to accept the terms, please sign it and bring it to my office. I don't want to rush you, but . . . um, the current manager will be retiring in three weeks. Obviously, we'd like you to spend a few weeks working with him. Call me back at 555-0393 if you have any questions.

Questions 80-82 refer to the following talk.

미국식 발음

OK . . . My name is Sarah Edwards, and I'll be showing you around our tire manufacturing facility today. As new employees, it's important that you be familiar with the various sections. Now, we usually visit the tire testing laboratory first during these orientation tours. But, since researchers are currently wrapping up an urgent study, I've been asked to do the tour in reverse order today. So, we'll start by heading to the viewing deck of our assembly line room. Throughout the tour, please refrain from placing your hands or fingers on any of the machines. Are there any questions before we begin?

Questions 83-85 refer to the following telephone message.

호주식 발음

Felicity, this is Pedro. Have you seen today's edition of the Santa Cruise Herald? It features an article about our bistro! The popular food critic Rebecca Clay wrote the piece. Overall, her review was very positive! Although she stated that our chocolate cake was a bit too sweet, she said the steak and appetizer she ordered were cooked to perfection. You know, Ms. Clay has very high standards. It will probably result in a lot more customers for us. Could you add this review to our social media page today? I want as many people as possible to read it. Thanks!

Questions 86-88 refer to the following advertisement.

캐나다식 발음

Are you a singer or musician looking for your first big break? Then Star Broadcast Network's newest program is for you! Music Icon is a talent competition that will end with one participant receiving a contract with a major entertainment company. On the show, a panel of celebrity judges—which varies every week—will eliminate one contestant. And once there are only three participants left, the viewers alone will get to select the winner. We'll be holding auditions across the country from May 11 until June 15 to select our competitors. So sign up for the one in the city closest to you today! Visit our Web site for a list of audition sites.

Questions 89-91 refer to the following talk.

호주식 발음

I'd like to start by saying that it's a great honor to be able to participate in this lecture series at James College. Several speakers have already given excellent talks, and I hope that you'll find mine as engaging as theirs. Now . . . the focus of my lecture is the impact that fiction has on society. Specifically, I'm going to look at how one popular novel . . . um, The Looking Glass by Jack Coyle . . . led to several reforms to the legal system. If you haven't read Coyle's book, don't panic. I'll hand out the relevant excerpts from it now, so you can refer to them during my lecture.

Questions 92-94 refer to the following announcement and floor plan.

영국식 발음

Attention, everyone. Before we open today, I just want to remind you that our clothing store is having a sale this week in honor of the holidays. Make sure to tell customers that over 20 of our best-selling sportswear items are marked down. The display has been set up in the aisle closest to the main entrance, so it will be the first thing people see when they enter the store. Oh . . . one more thing. We're going to close down for two days toward the end of the month so that our checkout area can be expanded. I'll announce the dates tomorrow after I have met with a representative of the interior design firm doing the work.

Questions 95-97 refer to the following excerpt from a meeting and graph.

 미국식 발음

Before we wrap up, I'd like to talk about how our four stores are doing. I went through the figures in our quarterly sales report yesterday, and . . . well, there's good news and bad news. The Kingston branch continues to do well. It exceeded $30,000 in revenue every month last quarter. In addition, the Albany branch has improved. Sales have increased each month since Harry Ferguson took over as manager in June. I'm concerned about the Bethany and Newark locations, though, because sales have declined since they opened in August. I'm going to pass out the report now. Please look through it and then come up with some suggestions for our next meeting on how to turn things around.

Questions 98-100 refer to the following announcement and chart.

 캐나다식 발음

Ever since we started working on the Raymon Arena Project last month, things have been very busy. The tight deadlines have created problems for some of you architects, which we need to address. If you look at this flow chart, you'll see that our normal work process for drafting blueprints includes five steps. However, for the rest of this project, I want you to draft blueprints right after meeting with clients. I think eliminating one step will expedite the work process. Now, I want to say a few things about a new city regulation that we need to take into account when designing the stadium. It'll only take a few minutes.
